Summer Breeze Concert: Dr. Zhivegas

Saturday, August 24, 7:30 p.m., FH

Come out for an awesome night of music from one of St. Louis' best-known bands. Dr. Zhivegas puts on a "hard pop dance floor rock show" that will inspire you to break out moves you never knew you had. Drummer Paul Chickey says the band has always played dance music and hit songs that draw on its rock-n-roll background. "We're drawn to the excitement that comes with a great rock show," Chickey says. We guarantee you'll feel great after seeing this concert! FREE. Concessions will be open. Rain or shine. Ext. 180.

NATURE NOTE Brilliant Red Wildflower

You can't miss this brilliant wildflower when you see it... the Cardinal Flower, or lobelia cardinalis. This perennial – which grows 2 to 4 feet tall – has showy, red flowers in 8 in. terminal spikes. Although relatively common, overpicking this handsome wildflower has resulted in its scarcity in some areas. Since most insects find it difficult to navigate the long tubular flowers, Cardinal Flower depends on hummingbirds, which feed on the nectar, for pollination. It was introduced to Europe in the mid 1620s, where the name Cardinal flower was in use by 1629, likely due to the similarity of the flower's color to the miters of Roman Catholic Cardinals. In early America, the Iroquois had many medicinal uses for cardinal flower. The Delaware used an infusion of the roots to treat typhoid. The Meskwaki used this plant as a ceremonial tobacco, throwing it to the winds to ward off a storm. And the Pawnee used the roots and flowers of cardinal flower in the composition of a love charm. Adapted from: www.lorenzokseedsllc.com
