nature note

PEAK COLOR SEASON 2016

Predicting the peak of fall color can be difficult. Missouri is blessed with a great variety of trees, shrubs, and vines. Their leaves turn at different times, so Missourians enjoy a fall color season that may last four to six weeks. The peak of fall color in Missouri is usually around mid-October. This is when maples, ashes, oaks and hickories are at the height of their fall display. Normally by late October, the colors are fading and the leaves beginning to drop from the trees. Innsbrook is still in the early stages of the 2016 fall color season, but with the cooler nights we're now experiencing, more drastic changes will likely be underway soon. Get the latest color reports from the state at www.nature.mdc.mo.gov/discover-nature/fall-colors.
