NATURE NOTES

Dark Sky Community

Innsbrook is a place of natural refuge. People come here to escape pollution, traffic, noise and the general stresses of city living. One of the benefits of living in this area is the ability to gaze upon the stars at night without light pollution.

We encourage all of our homeowners to illuminate their homes in a way that adheres to "Dark Sky" community initiatives.

Dark Sky communities respect neighbors' ability to enjoy the night sky free from light pollution caused by bright exterior lights. Homeowners (some of which are not present in their homes) leave their exterior lights on continuously or into the very late hours of the night. We request that you turn off exterior lights, floodlights, lake lights, and any other bright lights after 10 p.m. each night.

During the winter, these lights are especially noticeable since the nights are longer and the trees are bare.

Lights left on have effects that many may not consider. Firstly, bright exterior lights may interfere with sleep and viewing of the sky for your neighbors around you.

Natural night sky is also vital to the proper functioning of natural ecosystems. Artificial lighting can affect the migration patterns of birds, predator-prey relationships, and the circadian rhythms of many organisms, to name a few.

In light of this, and the complaints we have received from homeowners across the community, IBK Security officers will be making note of homes that have exterior lights left on after 11 p.m. Our team will then contact owners and ask them to adjust their lighting schedules.

If you would like to learn more about the Dark Sky initiative and how to improve your exterior lighting to reduce light pollution, please visit www.DarkSky.org

Cabin Chronicles: IBK Historical Society

*“Grant me the serenity
To accept the things I cannot change;
Courage to change the things I can;
And wisdom to know the difference.”*

As you approach the gates of Innsbrook or enter the property, many of you are seeking the comfort and peace that a day at Innsbrook can provide. Many of you may also know the above, as a version of the opening lines of a simple expression that has been and continues to be widely used as a worded balm to many as they have dealt or deal with challenges in their lives.

What you may not know is that the famous theologian, Reinhold Niebuhr, the author of this poetic expression, was born in Wright City, MO, just before the turn of the 20th Century. His father, Gustav, was a pastor at a church in Warrenton at one time. So as you pass through the little town on your way to Highway F and the gates of IBK, hopefully it will trigger thoughts of Reinhold and thus these simple lines, and the serenity you are seeking as you arrive at Innsbrook.

The Innsbrook Historical Society was created to maintain, preserve and promote the history of Innsbrook and the area nearby. Look for other reminders of the IHS happenings, published this coming spring, in the IBK Explorer.
