NATURE NOTE

Eastern Bluebird:
Missouri’s State Warbler

Although some folks who live in the St. Louis area are apt to think the cardinal is Missouri’s state bird, that honor goes to another colorful feathered friend—the eastern bluebird. Missouri designated the eastern bluebird (Sialia sialis) as the official state bird in 1927. You can identify the small songbird by its bright blue head and wing feathers, its rust-colored chest, and its unique song—a rich warbling whistle broken into short phrases (Tu-wheet-tudu). This is mating season for the bluebirds in this part of the country, so you are apt to hear the male’s calls he accompanies with a proud flutter of his wings. As John James Audubon himself said, “When March returns, the male commences his courtship, manifesting as much tenderness and affection towards his chosen one, as the dove itself. Martins and House Wrens! be prepared to encounter his anger, or keep at a respectful distance. Even the wily cat he will torment with querulous chirpings, whenever he sees her in the path from which he wishes to pick up an insect for his mate.”

Summer Workshops

Our kids’ Summer Workshop weeks have been set. These workshops will offer opportunities for Innsbrook kids ages 6 (graduated kindergarten) through 15.

New Faces at Innsbrook

There are some new folks who have joined the IBK family this year, and this is your opportunity to get to know them in their own words. If you see them around the property make sure to say hello!

Alexandria Barban, Accounts Receivable Manager

Have you been in your field for long?
I’ve been in accounting for more than seven years—self-taught and highly motivated!

What can we find you doing in your (limited) spare time? All of my spare time is spent with my two amazing sons. We do everything from snowball fights to horseback riding.

Name three things you would take with you to a deserted island. 1) A boat, 2) A sail, 3) An ore

What parts of your job are you excited about? The window of opportunities that has opened up for me. The people here are amazing! The atmosphere here is like nothing else, you can imagine why people have been here for multiple years and never plan on leaving.

What is your favorite book? The dictionary. I’m a horrible speller.

Katie Tucker, Director of Marketing and Events

When and how did you come to IBK? I began working at IBK in 2000 as a marketing assistant. Through the years, I’ve worked on every kind of project in here marketing from writing and designing to media buying and event planning. I returned to Innsbrook in my current role in November 2012.

What can we find you doing in your (limited) spare time? I love to read, but it’s almost 100% fiction books so I’m mostly filling my head with useless information that won’t be helpful unless zombies, werewolves or vampires invade the world. When I’m not saving the world of paranormal creatures, I spend a lot of time with friends and family ignoring as many household chores as possible.

Name three things you would take with you to a deserted island. A helicopter, helicopter fuel, and a 5-gallon bucket of margaritas.

Why do you love your job? I am excited about the endless possibilities in marketing and all of the new ways we have to communicate with our customers. I love new technology and though it may change how we do things, it can never replace the power of wowing our customers with great service and awesome products. Great word of mouth trumps new trends and gadgets any day of the week.
